Nestled amidst the rolling hills of Arlington National Cemetery, the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier stands as a solemn and moving tribute to the countless American soldiers who have given their lives in defense of their country.

The concept of an Unknown Soldier memorial first emerged during World War I, as a way to honor the many soldiers who were lost or buried unidentified. The remains of four unknown American soldiers were exhumed from battlefields in France, and one was chosen to be interred at Arlington National Cemetery in 1921. The tomb was officially dedicated in 1932, and since then, four more unknown soldiers have been interred there, representing the sacrifices made during World War II, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War.

The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier is guarded 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, by the sentinels of the 3rd U.S. Infantry Regiment ("The Old Guard"). These elite soldiers are responsible for ensuring that the tomb is always respected and honored.

The Changing of the Guard ceremony is a solemn and moving spectacle that takes place every hour on the hour. Visitors can observe as the new guard takes over and the old guard marches away, their footsteps echoing across the hallowed grounds.

The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier is a powerful reminder of the sacrifices made by American soldiers throughout history. It is a place where visitors can come to pay their respects, reflect on the meaning of service and sacrifice, and honor the legacy of those who have fought for our freedom.

The Temple of Fame: A Hall of Heroes

The Temple of Fame, located just a short walk from the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, is a memorial to some of the most distinguished American military leaders and heroes. The temple was built in 1958, and it houses the remains of over 400 men and women who have been awarded the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military decoration.

The Temple of Fame is a beautiful and inspiring space. The walls are adorned with murals depicting scenes from American military history, and the ceiling is covered in a mosaic depicting the Great Seal of the United States. The temple also houses a museum, which tells the stories of the Medal of Honor recipients who are buried there.

Visiting the Temple of Fame is a humbling experience. It is a place where visitors can learn about the incredible sacrifices made by American military heroes, and be inspired by their courage and dedication.
